FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF NWA NAMES TANYA MIMS FAYETTEVILLE – COMMUNITY PRESIDENT

FAYETTEVILLE, ARK. – First National Bank of NWA announced that Tanya Mims has joined as their Fayetteville President.

Mims, an Arkansas native, has more than twenty-four years of banking experience in the Fayetteville community. She has provided leadership serving the Leadership Fayetteville Program, Junior League of NWA, Peace at Home Family Shelter, and Christian Life Cathedral of Fayetteville. Tanya holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Arkansas.

“Tanya has been such an impactful leader and member of the Fayetteville community,” said Rob Husong, president. “I feel she is perfect for leading our Fayetteville team given her passion for Fayetteville and her tremendous heart for servant leadership. She embodies the core values of FNB NWA which is our commitment to investing in the communities we serve making them a better place.”

FNB NWA secured a 0.71-acre parcel earlier this year and plans to build a roughly 8,500-square-foot branch at the site, with construction set to begin in early 2019. It will replace the existing Fayetteville branch at 2638 Joyce Blvd, a leased office space that opened in December 2014.

First National Bank of NWA is a division of the First National Bank of Fort Smith, which was chartered in 1872. The company provides its Northwest Arkansas customers with six branches, including Rogers (Pinnacle), Rogers (Dixieland), Lowell, Centerton, Fayetteville, and Bentonville in addition to branches located in the River Valley.
